Giving deaf and hard-of-hearing students what they need to succeed.

Caption Colorado's state-of-the-art, CART service allows realtime captions to be viewed on smartphones and laptops. Now, deaf and hard-of-hearing students using Blackberry's or other smartphone devices, can read along and participate in any class, anywhere.

About Caption Colorado's Remote CART Service

Our unique, affordable technology allows deaf and hard-of-hearing students to participate in mainstream educational settings in an inconspicuous way.

Our captioners work remotely from home offices, listening to the classroom discussion via telephone or VoIP phone service, and stream realtime transcription to the deaf students via blackberry, smartphone or laptop.

"Although students with disabilities depend on captioning, all students benefit. Many students have commented on the helpfulness of streaming text in real time of the lecture. I cover complicated material in my Geology course and often save the captioning script for my students to use later as a review tool. Thank you for helping me provide this important, dynamic aspect to my lectures."
